DETAILED ACTION

1. The submitted prior art has been considered and made of record on submitted Form PTO-1449.
2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-18 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over of U.S. Patent D476275S to Winkler et al. Instant claims 1-18 are directed to an obvious variation of the design patent since it would have been obvious to use the dust cover of U.S. Patent D476275S with a conventional decorative motor vehicle wheel similar al to that of submitted references to Bottieri, Jr.(4484667) or Dean(US6371569) or Yoshida(4744606).

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over any one of the submitted principal references to Bottieri, Jr.(4484667) or Dean(US006371569) or Yoshida(4744606) in view of Swift(3433328) or Herffurth(US006173821).

Re the conventional decorative wheel feature which for the sake of argument is lacking in the secondary references, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to one having ordinary skill in the art to which the invention pertains to modify each of the principal references to include a caliper brake cover similar to that of each of the secondary references to Swift(3433328) or Herffurth(US006173821) with the covers fastened using any type of fastener desired. Note cover 108 and 40 of Swift(3433328) and Herffurth(US006173821), respectively. Re the shape of the cover, the shape of the cover would have been an obvious matter of design choice to adapt the cover to a particular type of brake caliper. A change in size and/or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art absent the instant specification establishing criticality of the feature. Also, see MPEP 2144.04 under the heading "Legal Precedent as Source of Supporting Rationale" re various changes in size and shape.

7. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winkler et al (D476275S) in view of Swift (3433328) or Herffurth (US006173821).

The inventorship of Winkler et al (D476275S) is not identical to the inventorship of the instant invention.

It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to one having ordinary skill in the art to which the invention pertains to modify each of the principal reference Winkler et al to be used with a caliper brake cover similar to that of each of the secondary references to Swift(3433328) or Herffurth(US006173821) with the covers fastened using any type of fastener desired. Note cover 108 and 40 of Swift(3433328) and Herffurth(US006173821), respectively. Re the shape of the cover, the shape of the cover would have been an obvious matter of design choice to adapt the cover to a particular type of brake caliper. A change in size and/or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art absent the instant specification establishing criticality of the feature. Also, see MPEP 2144.04 under the heading "Legal Precedent as Source of Supporting Rationale" re various changes in size and shape.
